1 of 1 people found the following review helpful. where's creepy archives 26 ?By Customerlove the creepy archives. where is the next volume 26? hope they have not stopped publishing them. it would ruin the collection.there's not many issues left for the archives !!!0 of 1 people found the following review helpful. Five StarsBy John mNice read. Excellent artwork as usual. Why are 's prices significantly higher than the competition? They won't print this.

Uncle Creepy delivers the best in experimental horror comics! Stories by Budd Lewis, Len Wein, Carmine Infantino, Pablo Marcos, Val Mayerik, and many others are collected in this terrifying tome, featuring issues #117 to #122 of Warren Publishing's groundbreaking horror title. Another volume packed with classic collaborations, hideous creatures, and bizarre settings!"It is these comics that set the precedents for horror comics now, hell, for horror in general. These comics are full of old-school scary fun for a new-school audience that are still as entertaining now as they were back then." -Fangoria.com

About the Author Budd Lewis (1948-2014) was comic book writer who wrote several Creepy, Eerie, and Vampirella books. He also worked in the movie industry as an animator, designer, storyboard artist, and director. Len Wein cocreated Swamp Thing early in a writing career that has included work on every major hero and villain at both DC Comics and Marvel Comics. As a writer, Wein is also credited with cocreating Wolverine for Marvel and Lucius Fox for DC. Wein was one of the editors on Watchmen and has also been editor in chief at both Marvel Comics and Disney Comics before settling in to a successful career writing comic books and animation. Carmine Infantino (1925-2013) was a comic book illustrator, penciller, and editor known for his work on the Silver Age editions of Detective Comics, The Flash, Showcase, Creepy, Eerie, and Star Wars. Infantino is a member of the Will Eisner Hall of Fame, as well as the winner of multiple Alley Awards and an Inkpot Award. Pablos Marcos is a comic book artist, penciller, and inker known for his naturalistic style. Marcos worked Creepy, Nightmare, Thor, Teen Titans, and The Avengers.
