Giving Conan a run for the moneyBy CustomerThis is a compilation of stories from the 70's sci fi-fantasy-horror magazine "Eerie" from Warren Publishing Although the stories were published by Warren, this a Dark Horse publication Rodrigo Daz de Vivar, better known as "El Cid", "Mio Cid/My Cid", 'El Campeador", is Spain super hero Writer Budd Lewis and artist Gonzalo Mayo (Vampirella) transform "El Cid" into the ultimate fantasy warrior, battling dragons, trolls, sorcerers, sirens, and demons Louisiana native and award winner Bud Lewis did an excellent job and the book contains material that could easily inspire a movie The book features other writers like Gerry Boudreau, Bill Dubay and Jeff Rovin When it comes to art, this is one of the most beautiful comic books i have ever seen in my life, as the book foreword states: "Every panel is almost like a painting", meticulously detailed, absolutely awesome, stunning, breathtaking I also love the way the Peruvian illustrator portrays women, they are flawless, perfect The book contains graphic violence, nudity and sexual content, recommended for teens and above I would like to end this review by posting one of Mr Lewis best lines: "I am no poet's dreamings I am no children's rhyme Nor am i wraith from twilight's darkening glance I am the songs they sing of me I am the pages of struggling history I am the temper of Spanish steel I am legend I am El Cid" 0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Beautiful art By Oscar Solis Bought most of these when I was a kid. Enjoyed them and had a nice drive along nostalgia road when I received the book. It's the art by Gonzalo Mayo that is the selling point. While intricate and beautiful, it doesn't work well as storytelling. Think of it as a tapestry. 0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Dramatic and heroic graphic art By Consuelo Leal Garza Wow. This are comics stories like I 've never seen before. I'm just discovering all these cmics artists, specially the spanish ones and some from south-asia. They really had a different approach to graphic storytelling. They art style is very dramatic. I love it.

Rodrigo Daz de Vivar also known to historians as El Cid was an eleventh century Spanish military commander who led both Christians and Moors into battle. In the pages of Eerie magazine, however, writer Budd Lewis and artist Gonzalo Mayo transform El Cid into a larger-than-life fantasy warrior, battling dragons, trolls, and sirens for his life and demons for his soul! This deluxe hardcover collects every El Cid adventure that ran in Warren Publishing's Eerie magazine in the mid-1970s, featuring the elaborately detailed artwork of Mayo, plus Eerie's original historical background feature.* Cover painting by Sanjulian, frontispiece by Bernie Wrightson (Frankenstein)!
