Leaving the New Gods piece, with Slez the villain, without question the best of the bunch. The art was solid, inking in some stories was off. Byrnes vision of Kal-El, and his art, are worth the price. These are solid issues, I plan on purchasing his run with

PfannenstielVolume 5 of the man of steel gives us some compelling characters and gives us more background on some characters from worlds we have already been introduced to in previous installations.First of all one of the funniest bad guys in DC comics is in this book so lets start there.The Joker has invaded Metropolis and is trying to frame Superman, will he get away with it? will superman save the day and stop the joker with his own last laugh? tune in next week.. (or you could just buy and read this book)We are also introduced to two characters from apokolips who have a history with Darkseid which is interesting in its own right, this story ended up being better than i thought it would be when I first started this section of the book.And then we get to see the pest from the 5th dimension MR.Mxyzptlk. I always thought this character was funny and I liked how he could change things in the blink of an eye. The only question is can Superman protect the people of metropolis while he plays Mxyzptlk's game and how can he stop this crazy little man.Pick this book up if only for the Joker and Mxyzptlk stories but I would say that the apokolips background stories in the other section and the other stories between these are well worth the time to read.0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Five StarsBy CoolGreat

The fifth collection of Superman tales from the 1980s, featuring ADVENTURES OF SUPERMAN #432-435, ACTION COMICS #592-593 and SUPERMAN #9-10! Superman encounters the new hero Gangbuster, faces the menace of the Joker, teams up with Mister Miracle and Big Barda, and inadvertently becomes Metropolis's greatest menace!

About the AuthorBorn in England and raised in Canada, John Byrne discovered superheroes throughThe Adventures of Supermanon television. After studying at the Alberta College of Art and Design, he broke into comics first withSkywaldand then at Charlton, where he created the character Rog-2000. Following his tenure at Charlton, Byrne moved to Marvel, where his acclaimed runs onThe Uncanny X-MenandThe Fantastic Foursoon made him one of the most popular artists in the industry. In 1986 he came to DC to revamp Superman from the ground up, and since then he has gone on to draw and/or write every major character at both DC and Marvel.In a career that has spanned nearly 30 years, Marv Wolfman has helped shape the heroic careers of DC Comics' Green Lantern, Blackhawk, and the original Teen Titans, as well as Marvel Comics' Fantastic Four, Spider-Man, and Nova. In addition to co-creating The New Teen Titans and the universe-shattering Crisis on Infinite Earths with George Prez, Wolfman was instrumental in the revamp of Superman after Crisis, the development of The New Teen Titans spin-off series Vigilante, Deathstroke the Terminator, and Team Titans, and created such characters as Blade for Marvel, along with Night Force and the retooled Dial "H" For Hero for DC. In addition to his numerous comic book credits, Wolfman has also written several novels and worked in series television and animation, including the Superman cartoon of the late 1980s and currently the hit Teen Titans show on Cartoon Network.
